FIREBUGS BELIEVED RESPONSIBLE FOR $75,000 FIRE IN WISCONSIN

FOND DU LAC IS SCENE OF BLAZE EARLY THURSDAY

Two Fires Sweep Town Within Last Twenty-Four Hours

Fond Du Lac, Wis., June 26.—Police were today searching for fire bugs who are believed to have started two fires within the last twenty-four hours, causing total damages of $75,000. A $60,000 fire swept the B. F. and H. L. Street Wagon Works plant early this morning, destroying two warehouses.

The fire was under control in less than three hours.

The Wisconsin Power and Light Company sustained a loss of $10,000 to stock stored in one of the warehouses. The Sweet plant has been inactive for nearly twenty-five years, only eight men being employed at the present time.

CHARGES ATTEMPT TO CONTROL PRICES OF GAS IN SUIT

Washington, June 26.—Suits were filed in the federal court at Chicago by the United States government against 50 of the greatest oil refining companies charging a general conspiracy among them to violate the Sherman anti-trust laws. Among the defendants are the Standard Oil company of Ohio and the Pure Oil company, which has headquarters in Columbus, O., and of which Beman G. Dawes is president.

The court was asked by Attorney General Stone, who announced the suits here, to prevent and restrain the companies from what the government charged was "combination and conspiracy in restraint of trade and commerce" among the several states and with foreign nations in gasoline, kerosene and other hydro-carbon derivatives.

In bringing the suit, Stone, charging that all of the defendant companies have combined to control the production of gasoline by a pooling of asserted patent rights in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act, names as the primary defendants, in the conspiracy to organize and maintain the unlawful combination, the Standard Oil company of Indiana, the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, Standard Development company, Texas Oil and Gasoline Products company.

Liquor Exports Show Decrease.

London, June 26.—Statistics compiled by the British board of trade show that in 1913 a total of 10,089,937 gallons of spirits was exported from Great Britain to various other countries. In 1923 only 7,209,390 gallons were exported, a decline of 2,880,547 gallons. New markets for British intoxicants apparently have opened up during recent years and these markets are located chiefly in territory adjacent or easily accessible to the United States.

Charge Murder Threat to Lieutenant-Governor.

LIEUT. GOV. TOUPIN.

During the bitter fight between Republicans and Democrats in the Rhode Island Senate Lieutenant-Governor Toupin, Democrat, was charged by his Republican adversaries with threatened murder.

Ponzi, Near Freedom, Says He's Broke.

Charles Ponzi, Boston's former "wizard of finance," will end his five-year term for his get-rich-quick schemes on August 6, and will then face trial on ten more indictments. He declares he is broke. He was taken to a Boston court to ask for a writ of habeas corpus, but the court refused, fixing the amount at $14,000.

TRAVELERS TAKE UP QUESTION OF SURCHARGE RATES

Columbus, O., June 26.—Further discussion of the 50 per cent surcharge on Pullman tickets was scheduled to be held when the supreme council of the United Commercial Travelers of America, met in session here today.

Robert F. Brinkherd, vice chairman of the committee on public relations of eastern railroads fighting repeal of the surcharge, was to present the argument of the railroads favoring retention of what D. K. Clink, chairman of the combined committee fighting it, termed "unjust, un-American and imposes an unmerited hardship upon the traveling public."

The organization with a membership of 700,000 has appealed to the Interstate Commerce commission to repeal the surcharge.

While the supreme council had expected to adjourn late today, it was considered probable that, owing to the large amount of uncompleted business still facing it, the convention will continue through Friday to be climaxed by election of officers.

THURSDAY IN N. Y.

Madison Square Garden, New York, June 26.—The Democratic national convention today was to:

- 1.—Be called to order at 10:30 a.m. by the permanent chairman, Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana.
- 2.—Listen to invocation pronounced by the Rev. Dr. George Caleb Moore, pastor of the Madison Avenue Baptist Church of New York.
- 3.—Answer to the roll call of states, Connecticut yielding to New York, so the name of Governor Al Smith might be placed at once in nomination.
- 4.—Receive the report of the resolutions committee on platform and adopt it.
- 5.—Adjourn until Friday morning.

Mine Workers Union Sued.

St. Clairsville, O., June 26.—Suits for $250,000 damages, naming the United Mine Workers of America as defendants, was filed here by Edna M. C. Major, widow of John I. Major, who was shot to death June 22, 1922, while employed at the Lafferty mine of the Union Coal Stripping and Mining company. Major, the petition asserted, came to his death at the hands of union miners.

STATE PLATFORM IS PUT THROUGH BY REPUBLICANS

Ohio Convention Completes Task at Columbus Electors Nominated

Columbus, June 26.—At its final session the Republican state convention adopted the party platform for the 1924 campaign, nominated its slate of candidates for presidential electors and sent greetings to President Coolidge and General Charles G. Dawes, vice presidential nominees.

Two electors-at-large were nominated by the convention—Major Charles W. Montgomery, Newark, chairman of the state central committee, and former Associate Justice George H. Clark of Canton.

Although the platform adopted contains planks designed to cover the Ku Klux Klan and prohibition issues, the Klan is not mentioned by name nor is the word prohibition used.

The platform also commends the national party platform "as a constructive, intelligent statement of the policies of the Republican party," and congratulates the party on selection of President Coolidge and General Charles G. Dawes as presidential and vice presidential nominees.

The party's declaration of principles also contains a recommendation that the next legislature amend the present primary law to provide for a pre-primary convention to "recommend" candidates for state and national offices.

Other planks in the platform follow:

Child Labor—Favors prompt ratification of the federal child labor amendment.

Labor—Declares for the right of labor to collective bargaining "to secure reasonable conditions of employment and a living wage," endorses principle of the eight-hour day and "equal pay for equal work, regardless of sex."

Law Enforcement.—Prohibition—Pledges party "wholeheartedly to the principle of rigid enforcement of law."

Ku Klux Klan—Reaffirms "unyielding devotion to the constitution and to the guarantees of civil, political and religious liberties therein contained."

Highways—Promises further reduction in the assessments on rural property for construction of highways.

Agriculture—Pledges "support to any and all legitimate means that may tend to restore permanent prosperity to the farmer."

Taxation—Promises continuation of policy of deriving revenues for state government from indirect taxation without direct state levies; declares "present system of local taxation and finance ignores every principle of equality in tax burdens" and pledges "a complete revision of that complicated system."

Other planks pledges support to the workmen's compensation law; impartial administration of civil service; for reforestation and protection of wild birds and animals; for creation of a federal negro industrial commission and for enactment of the Dyer federal anti-lynching law. The platform also favors representation of women on the state and county central and executive committees, but does not mention equal representation. Faith in the principle of the administrative reorganization code is reaffirmed.

Optimism seemed to prevail in the headquarters of all the gubernatorial candidates following the close of the convention. The followers of former Governor Davis found satisfaction in the references made in the speech of Gilbert Bettman, temporary chairman, and the resolutions criticizing the administration of Governor Donahy and drawing a comparison between his work and that of Governor Davis, his predecessor.

ENGLISH PRO LEADS FIELD IN MATCH

Hoy Lake, Eng., June 26.—Cyril Tolley, English pro, led the field with a score of 73, when the first round in the British open golf championship had been completed this morning.

Gil Nichols, one of the American aces, had the best score of the "invaders," his 75 being one stroke better than that of McDonald Smith, California star, who finished his first round with 76.

Walter Hagen had 77, Jim Barnes 78 and Gene Sarazen 83 for the first 18 holes.

LYDIG HOYT SUES ACTRESS WIFE.

Mrs. Lydig Hoyt, New York society beauty and stage star, is defendant in a divorce action brought by her husband, prominent New York clubman and millionaire, in a Paris court. She is known on the stage as Julia Hoyt. Before she went on the stage the Hoyts, who were married in 1914, were internationally famous for their entertainments. The divorce is believed to be the result of Hoyt's unsuccessful efforts to have his wife retire from the stage.

ROMANCE BEGUN 60 YEARS AGO ENDS AT ALTAR

Culminating a romance begun some sixty years ago, J. W. Gaines of this city and Mrs. Elizabeth Meeker of Arcanum, O., were married last Wednesday afternoon, June 18, at 2 o'clock, the Rev. Mr. Cooper of the Arcanum M. E. Church, officiating.

They had not seen each other for more than fifty years. Mr. and Mrs. Gaines will go to Arcanum the first of July and make their home in that city.

DAMAGE SUIT IS FILED BY WOMAN AGAINST JURISTS

Columbus, O., June 26.—A damage suit for $570,000 was on trial in Common Pleas court here today charging malfeasance in office and naming as defendants Federal Judge Sater, Columbus; Federal Judge Hickenlooper, Cincinnati; Common Pleas Judge Dixon, Stanley Reitterer, two attorneys and a clerk in the federal court here. The suit was filed by Teresa F. Wurtsbaugh, Cincinnati, who alleged the defendants refused to permit her to file certain papers, the nature of which she refused to disclose.

TRACTION COMPANY TOLD TO IMPROVE AUTO BUS SERVICE

The Ohio State Public Utilities Commission Thursday upheld the complaint of Frank Berron against the motor bus line operated by the Dayton Springfield and Xenia, in which he charged inadequate and unsatisfactory service and disobedience of the law in not coming to a dead stop at railroad crossings.

The commission also ordered the traction company to add an extra round trip to its schedule and one through trip between Dayton and Xenia after 8:30 o'clock. The company inaugurated a full schedule of motor trips when the service was started but abandoned this program after a competitive company had given up the field.

The company now operates two buses out of Xenia in the morning, one leaving here at 5:30 and the other at 8 o'clock and one return trip leaving Dayton at 8:30 and arriving in Xenia at 7:15 o'clock. On Saturdays and Sundays a bus leaves Xenia at 7:50 o'clock in the evening and returns at midnight. During the day time the buses maintain a regular schedule between Dayton and Xenia and Dayton and Alpha but do not complete the trip into Xenia.

RAILROAD TO BUY ROLLING STOCK

Washington, June 26.—The C. and O. railroad applied to the interstate commerce commission today for authority to issue $18,000,000 of equipment trust certificates to be used in the purchase of 100 locomotives, 7,100 freight cars and other rolling stock.

CARMENT WORKERS ARE ON STRIKE IN NEW YORK TODAY

New York, June 26.—The garment workers to the number of 40,000 went on strike for the closed shop and better working conditions, according to an announcement made by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America. It affects New York city and vicinity. "In both Chicago and Rochester clothing markets," reads the announcement, "the union has recently renewed its agreements with the manufacturers of these cities without either a strike or a threat to strike. The largest clothing manufacturers in the United States are maintaining satisfactory relationship with the Amalgamated and through civilized industrial machinery maintained by both the manufacturers and the union, the industry in these markets enjoys peace and efficiency. The Amalgamated has struggled to bring about the same conditions in New York."

CHARTER APPLIED FOR BY RECREATION ASSOCIATION HERE

Application for a charter and incorporation papers for the Xenia Community Recreation Association, a corporation not for profit, was sent to Columbus Thursday by T. H. Zell, president of the organization.

The application for permission to incorporate marks the first step in the effort to acquire a site in the Dodds Addition, adjacent to North Detroit Street, for conversion into a central park with a swimming pool possibly as a main feature of attraction.

The application was signed by E. M. Woodward, the Rev. W. H. Tilford, C. E. Arbogast, Joe Adams, Mrs. Charles Kelbie, J. E. Daly and T. H. Zell as officials of the recreation association. It is expected it will serve as a holding company for the site which it is proposed to buy this year in anticipation of soliciting funds and developing the park later when financial conditions are more favorable.

The plan to acquire the proposed ten-acre site and develop the park and swimming pool this summer, were dropped when boosters of the movement were told business conditions now create an unfavorable atmosphere for a money campaign. They were advised by money interests and business men however, to purchase the tract at the agreed price of $1,500 and keep it until the money would be available.

F. W. Dodds, agent for the tract, agreed to change restrictions in the sale contract so that it will not be necessary to construct the swimming pool at once. A survey has indicated that the several thousand dollars needed to carry out the project may be conducted to raise the $1,500 necessary to buy the tract and keep it in the hands of the holding company, assuring the public that his choice park site will not be lost to the city.

AL SMITH HAS DAY AFTER MCADOO IS NOMINATED

GAINS CLAIMED BY LEADERS AT NEW YORK MEET

McAdoo and Smith Report Accessions To Their Ranks

New York, June 26.—Managers of the leading candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination claim to be making gains.

At McAdoo headquarters it was said that 50 eastern delegates had been corralled by the Californian. This claim would bring McAdoo's maximum voting strength to between 650 and 660 votes—just about 75 short of the two-thirds majority necessary to secure the nomination.

Chances of Governor Alfred E. Smith to capture the Democratic presidential nomination appeared today to be the brightest yet, his managers claim. Smith is said to have been informed by such leaders as Tom Taggart, George Brennan and Ed Moore that if in the early balloting for candidates he shows sufficient strength to warrant the belief that he can win, they will get behind him. Brennan has been the only one of these three leaders to openly support Smith. Taggart and Moore have not yet come into the open, but the governor has received assurances of their support.

Charles E. Morris, chief of staff of the James M. Cox boom, branded as false published statements that the former Ohio governor would throw his strength to Governor Smith, should it be found impossible to nominate the Ohioan.

"It is true that our Ohio national committeemen, Edmond H. Moore, has been in conference with Smith leaders, but he is not giving away Cox votes—he is obtaining Cox votes," Morris said. "Ohio is not under the unit rule and some Ohio votes possibly will go to Al Smith on a showdown vote, but the number will not exceed 10 or 12."

Platform Planks.

George E. Brennan, Illinois leader, declared that careful canvass of the sentiment in the Democratic convention on the Klan issue showed that more than 700 delegates are now pledged to vote for a plank denouncing the hooded organization by name. Brennan said he was more determined than ever to carry the fight for a strong anti-klan plank to the floor if there is any attempt at straddling the question in the committee on resolutions.

Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts leaped into the fight. He said those who have been opposing the Klan plank or favoring compromise are now leaving their positions "like rats deserting a sinking ship."

"There can be no compromise on this question," declared Walsh. "The Democratic party must meet it squarely or go down to defeat as an organization lacking in courage and manhood."

"If we do not get what we want from the committee, we will carry the fight to the floor and not only call the roll of states, but the roll of delegates, so that every man and woman in the convention will be put on record as to his or her sympathies regarding the Klan."

A tiff is in prospect over pledging American adherence to the league, with the moderate faction in the convention apparently assured of success for their plan of endorsing the league without pledging American participation. The platform will contain a pledge for American entrance into the world court of justice. A denunciation of the Hughes policy toward Turkey, which will charge that the Republican program permitted mistreatment of Armenia and was based on encouraging Turkish favor for American oil interests, also will appear.

The platform also will contain a denunciation of congress for its failure to provide adequate farm relief and will pledge the support of the Democratic party for legislation to encourage marketing of farm products at home and abroad. A declaration for extensive government aid in providing credit facilities is to be included.

A plank written by Senator Jones of New Mexico denouncing the Mellon plan, urging publicity for returns and sanctioning the Democratic rates as adopted by congress; declarations for repeal and revision of the Esch-Cummins rail rate-making law, and for Philippine independence, also are expected to be included.

TAKE OVER BANK'S AFFAIRS

Columbus, O., June 26.—The affairs of the Pleasant City Bank of Pleasant City, today were taken over by the state banking department at the request of officials of the institution.

ORATORY WILL HOLD DELEGATES IN NEW YORK

Convention Listens To Flow Of Words On Third Day.

Madison Square Garden, New York, June 26.—The Democratic national convention was thrown into its greatest demonstration and into a pandemonium of indescribable confusion and noise this afternoon when the name of Governor Al Smith was formally presented to the delegates.

An hour after the riotous demonstration began, it showed no signs of abating. If anything it was increasing. The din was terrific and continuous, fed by shrieking sirens, bells and whistles.

Led by the New York delegation and supported by other Smith states, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Vermont, Connecticut, New Jersey, and others, the convention was turned into a riotous demonstration such as few, if any, conventions has ever witnessed.

From the moment that Franklin D. Roosevelt, standing gamely on his crippled legs, shot the name of New York's governor into the arena, pandemonium was loose. A roar that must have penetrated to the battery and the Bronx greeted the name.

Armed with every noisemaking device known to man, including fire sirens, police whistles, great clanging of bells and clackety instruments, the governor's friends in the galleries proceeded to whoop it up. Thousands of his friends in the galleries proceeded to whoop it up. Thousands of his friends too, were on the floor. They had crashed the gates of the historic old garden and without credentials or badge they mixed indiscriminately into the struggling mass of humanity that milled and fought its way around the garden floor in the biggest show of the convention.

From a half dozen bands came the familiar "Sidewalks of New York," and "Rosie O'Grady," but their tooting was scarcely discernable above the great din created by the sirens and the horns and whistles.

With all of its fervor, its intensity, it apparently was a good natured crowd that milled around "for Al." They laughed as they marked and yelled invitations to the McAdoo and favorite son states to "come on in for Al."

But the managers in those delegations kept a tight clutch on their state standards and smilingly refused. Airlines flew overhead and showered down on the old garden showers of confetti and bits of colored paper. The confetti sifted in through the open skylight and drifted down on the heads of the demonstrators.

Madison Square Garden, New York, June 26.—The Democratic national convention took its oration in one large gulp today.

Leaving its weary platform builders struggling desperately in the throes of a bitter fight over the Ku Klux Klan, the convention met earlier than usual, patiently resigned to drenching of words, such as few conventions have been called upon to experience in a single day. Before this fervid day is ended the names of a dozen candidates will have been tossed into the garden arena to the accompaniment of wild demonstrations and endless words.

Today was "Al Smith's day" and New York lost no time in taking advantage of that fact.

His enthusiastic admirers, drawn from the sidewalks of New York started crashing the garden gates an hour before the scheduled opening and hundreds of them found seats in the garden balconies and galleries despite the fact they had no tickets.

The storming of the old citadel was conducted with thoroughness and dispatch by Al's friends. There was system to it that begot careful preparation.

At the Fourth avenue and 26th street entrances, convention officers made frantic efforts to stem the tide, but they might as well have been shouting at the moon.

"Here, you can't come in here," shouted the sergeant at arms. "Where are your tickets?" "Tickets! We're for Al," came the replies.

The frantic convention officers appealed to the city cops. "You can't stop this bunch," said the cops resignedly. "Nobody could. They're for Al."

Those were magic words, "we're for Al."

A great number of women were included in the gate crashers.

It was 11:02 before Chairman Walsh began pounding his gavel and ordering the delegates into their seats.

At that hour the floor was a milling mass of delegates, officers, casual visitors and hangers on.

Walsh took a long look at the galleries and then walked back and resumed his chair. The floor continued to be a scene of confusion. The song was the getaway signal, apparently for it was followed immediately by the shrieking of a fire siren high up under the roof.

Walsh began pounding again at ten minutes past eleven.

"The convention will come to order," he shouted, his voice barely penetrating the noise of the floor and galleries.

For the second time Walsh gave up his seemingly futile pounding of the gavel and disgustedly took his seat.

Senator Royal S. Copeland, of New York, supporting Smith, appeared down in front of the platform with a megaphone and waved to the boys in the galleries. Walsh finally became irritated. He sent a flock of sergeants at arms down on the floor under instructions to "put 'em in their seats."

The aisles were choked and there were scores of who were no badges or credentials of any kind, milling around.

At 11:20 some uniformed city police bore down the broad center aisle shoving the delegates into their sections and chasing those who didn't appear to have any business there.

Governor William M. Sweet, of Colorado, was recognized when his state was called. He seconded William G. McAdoo's nomination.

"I deem it a great honor," he said "to speak for my state in seconding the nomination of William Gibbs McAdoo."

Cheers from the McAdoo delegations and mingled with a chorus of "boos" from the galleries.

It hadn't been on the program for Governor Sweet to make his seconding speech at this time. It was arranged only a few minutes before by McAdoo's floor managers, who apparently wanted to take the edge off the Smith blow.

It was not possible for Governor Sweet to continue for several minutes after his opening sentence. Georgia, California and other McAdoo states led to yelling for McAdoo and it clashed violently with the yelling and screaming of Smith's "boys" in the galleries.

Texas and Kentucky both McAdoo states, led off with another parade of state standards. California dropped in. Then Montana and Oklahoma followed by South Carolina, Florida, Arizona and Idaho.

When Sweet finished there was applause from the McAdoo delegations and deep silence from the galleries.

"The secretary will proceed with the roll call," said Walsh.

"Connecticut yields to the great empire state of New York," came the response from the floor.

Pandemonium broke loose. It meant that "Al" was about to go in.

Franklin D. Roosevelt came to the platform by the aid of crutches. His crippled legs were braced wide to enable him to stand alone.

His opening words were a rebuke to the New Yorkers in the gallery who had interrupted Sweet's speech for McAdoo.

"I want to tell you," he shouted "that we in New York want that the same courtesy paid to every candidate that we ourselves would expect elsewhere."

Great cheering greeted this reprint and to the boys in the galleries Roosevelt began with difficulty and proceeded amid more difficulties. At the conclusion of nearly every sentence of his speech, the cheering broke forth. He constantly waved his hand to quiet the galleries.

Roosevelt departed from his set speech to speak a word indirectly concerning the bitterness of the platform fight.

"As one of your standard bearers in the past," he said, "I have the right to say to you that when you get this platform tomorrow, remember the words of Abraham Lincoln—with malice toward none, with charity for all."

While Roosevelt was speaking the fire department ordered the police department to close every entrance to the garden on account of the tremendous crush outside seeking admittance.

Fire inspectors went into the galleries under instructions to clear the aisles. The galleries by this time was choked with probably the greatest crowd in its history. The aisles between the delegates sections were packed with sardine tightness with people who wore no credentials.

In the No. 4 aisle that ran from the platform toward the rear they were packed eight and nine deep; in the aisle running at right angles to the platform it was the same.

Unofficial estimates put the audience at around 20,000.

Roosevelt tired visibly as he proceeded. His face was drawn but he smiled continually. He was standing on his crippled limbs probably longer than he has since he was stricken with paralysis and the physical strain of the effort showed plainly in his face. Roosevelt finished at 12:33 and the pandemonium that had gone before was nothing to the inferno of noise and enthusiasm that then began.

New York's standard was snatched up in a twinkling and it plowed into the choked aisles propelled by hundreds who formed a battering ram of progress.

New Jersey swung in behind New York, Massachusetts just behind and then came Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Illinois, Minnesota.

The floor became a fluttering waving mass of flags waved by thousands of hands. Vermont came in and so did Iowa, supposedly a McAdoo state, Nevada, Utah, North Dakota, all paraded for McAdoo—but they came in to the Smith show.

Great banners bearing Governor Smith's picture appeared as if by magic in the hands of the marchers. The din was continuous, terrific, deafening. The boys in the galleries with their horns, bells, sirens and other noise making devices saw to that. The band was tooting madly at "the sidewalks of New York", but none heard it. They couldn't. After the demonstration had gone on for ten minutes a uniformed band reached the floor and tooted its way around the aisle.

BIDS ARE ASKED FOR PRINTING OF AUGUST BALLOTS

Bids are now being asked for the printing of ballots for the August primary by the Greene County Board of Elections, according to Earl Short, clerk.

The bids will be opened and the printing contract awarded at a special meeting of the board called for July 7, at 8 p.m.

Although there will probably be only two ballots, one for each party, both will be long. There is an unusually large number of Republicans seeking the party endorsement at the primary, which, unless the ballot is divided, will make that ballot especially long.

The ballot will contain the names of all candidates for state offices, for congressman, for all county offices and for the non-partisan offices of the supreme court and district court of appeals. Democrats will not have so much competition and the ballot will be shorter.

Although candidates for judicial offices appear on a special non-partisan ballot at the regular election, those seeking the party endorsement will have their names on the ballot of their party.

WHAT CAUSED THE SAN FRANCISCO AND JAPAN EARTHQUAKES—AND MUCH OF INTEREST ON THE SUBJECT

"Politics, politics, tired of it, give us something else, occasionally," was the advice of one of our subscribers the other day. So here is an article on a subject that appealed to the writer, because he once rode in an automobile through devastated streets of one of our great cities, made so mainly by an earthquake. The inquiry then and now "what causes earthquakes" is intensified also by the recent more appalling disaster in Japan. Harry A. Stewart tells in the American Magazine for July the story of Dr. Thomas A. Jaggar, a scientist, who had lived for twelve years in the crater of an active volcano. His story follows:

Many years ago, when the western part of this country was almost unknown and unexplored, a settler was making toward the Pacific Coast in a prairie schooner.

Hitched to the big-wheeled wagon, with its canvas top, was a team of four mules. Two cows walked docilely back of the outfit. The home-seeker, a gaunt, hardy woodsman, drove the team, while his two grown sons, mounted on horseback, scouted for the ever-present danger of Indians.

One day, about nightfall, the little party arrived in the neighborhood of what we now call the Yellowstone National Park. When the old man decided to make camp, he left the task of unhitching and watering his stock to his sons, while he took his gun and started out to kill a deer or an elk.

Suddenly the boys, at work around the wagon, heard someone coming through the bushes at a high rate of speed. They looked up to see their father running toward the wagon for all he was worth. As soon as he got in hearing distance he began to yell, "Hitch up and git out! Hurry!"

The boys went to work to get the "critters" back into harness with all possible speed. When the outfit was ready, the old man, seized the reins and, wheeling round, drove back at a gallop over the track they had followed that day.

The two boys, on their horses, kept a sharp lookout behind, but could see nothing dangerous. Finally one of them rode up to the wagon. "Say, Pop," he demanded, "What was it that you was skered of?"

The old man glanced back, and then drew the mules down to a milder pace.

"Boy," he said solemnly, "you know when I went back through the brush that? Well, I was so close to Hell that the ground was hot and steam was bilin' up through the cracks!"

As everyone now knows, there is much volcanic activity in the neighborhood of this marvelous park. It is shown in the boiling springs, the spouting geysers, and in the brilliant colors of comparatively recent lava flows. But we no longer think that this activity indicates proximity to the infernal regions.

But, strangely enough, up to within the last decade or two, we actually knew little more about what goes on inside the earth than the old settler did, and we hardly took the trouble to lessen our ignorance.

Our greatest strides of learning in this particular direction really began in 1912, when Doctor Thomas A. Jaggar, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, went to live in the crater of an active volcano so that he might find out something about it. He has inhabited this strange and wonderful home ever since. Before taking up his residence there, he had made a close study of Vesuvius, Pelee, and numerous other volcanoes in all parts of the world.

I had the opportunity of talking with Doctor Jaggar the other day. His fifteen years' residence in the brink of the crater of Kilauea in the Island of Hawaii has taught him more about volcanoes, probably, than known by any other man in the world. He is the volcanologist of the United States Government and in charge of the Hawaiian Volcano Observatory.

The sciences of volcanology and geonomy (or the study of the living earth) owe more to this intrepid and resolute scientist than to any other individual. In pursuit of facts that would enable us to understand volcanoes, he has risked death in a dozen horrible aspects, from incineration in molten lava to asphyxiation by deadly gases. But from his studies, the veil of mystery which has always surrounded volcanoes and earthquakes is beginning to lift, and from them we may some day learn how to avoid such terrible catastrophes as overtook the Island of Martinique in the eruption of Mont Pelee in 1902, when twenty-six thousand human beings were killed in the space of a few moments.

You may think it strange, as I did, that our country should have a volcanologist on its pay roll. But when I learned that the United States owns more active volcanoes than any other country in the world, the reason for Doctor Jaggar's job became clearer.

There are four hundred and thirty known active volcanoes sprinkled about the surface of the globe, and we are the proprietors of more than a hundred of them. Of these, ten are in the United States proper. They are in the States of California, Oregon, Washington, and in Alaska. About sixty are in the Aleutian Islands chain, extending from Alaska across Behring Sea toward Siberia. Five are in the Hawaiian Islands, and the remainder in the Philippines.

The study of volcanoes is important because the most probable solution of the earthquake mystery is to be found in the fire mountains. When we understand the lava writhing underground, we shall be a long way advanced toward understanding how the earth writhed in California in 1906 and in Japan in 1923. Great earthquake belts are also volcano belts.

A few minutes' talk with the volcano expert upset a good many of my ideas about these wonderful mountains. I asked him how many volcanoes there are in the world, and this is what he said:

"Of course by volcanoes you mean mountains showing signs of volcanic activity. The old idea was that each volcanic mountain was separate and distinct from every other, and with no relation to it. We now believe, however, that there are not so many volcanoes as there are volcanic peaks. There seem to be volcanic chains along which the volcano travels and the different peaks are merely outlets or blow holes, for it.

"The Hawaiian Islands in the Pacific Ocean form a part of such a chain. It extends from Midway Island, which barely peeps above the surface of the sea, and has only room enough on it for a cable station, to the Island of Hawaii, sixteen hundred miles away. As we progress from Midway Island to Hawaii, we find the peaks getting higher and higher out of the water, and the signs of volcanic activity more and more recent, until we reach Hawaii, with its five active volcanoes.

"This indicates that the volcano has been traveling from one end of the chain to the other. Its journey has probably taken millions of years. As it goes along it raises the surface of the earth, just as a mile raises it. After it has passed the earth sinks back again. Where it passed long ago the subsidence is greatest. In Hawaii, where it is now active, the peaks are highest.

"Probably, in the ages to come, this volcano will turn and retrace its path, and Midway Island will again be raised high above sea level and Hawaii will sink. But this need alarm no one, for it will be millions of years before that happens."

WHO SE?

1904-Twenty Years Ago-1924

Yesterday was an important day in the history of Zion Baptist Church. The occasion was the celebration of the 65th anniversary of the organization of that church.

The baseball game at Lucas Grove Saturday afternoon between Xenia and Clifton, resulted in a score of 12 to 8 in favor of Clifton.

Mr. Howard Little left last evening for Put-in-Bay, to attend the convention of grain dealers and was accompanied by Mr. George Swartz. The two will enjoy a little lake trip together before their return home.

Mr. Wm. M. Neeld has been given his commission for a period of four years as a member of the Sinking Fund Commission. Mr. Neeld makes a good member and the re-appointment was a deserved one.

A FOURTH OF JULY PARTY FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

July Fourth seems an especially appropriate time to give a party. The following entertainment suggestions are suitable for young people from ten years old to the twenties. (For refreshments serve ordinary punch, cake and ice cream.)

Invite guests informally by telephone, asking them to come on July fourth at three o'clock in the afternoon, each bringing a suitcase which contains an old garment for use in one of the games to be played.

When the guests arrive the suitcase game, which is called "Going Home for the Fourth," is started at once to "break the ice" (there is no more hilarious game known). It may be played out-of-doors or in the house, as follows: The guests pile their suitcases in the center of the room or lawn. At a signal all rush forward to grab a suitcase and it is more fun if nobody gets his own. Each player must open the suitcase, put on the garment he finds therein (whether it fits or not, which makes the fun!) close the suitcase and run to a given goal (out of doors this might be a tree) and there take off the garment, put it back in the suitcase and rush back to the starting place. He who does this in the shortest space of time, wins the game. The game may then be repeated or discarded for the one following:

Presidents' Pictures: Buy a cheap volume of "Lives of the Presidents" in the Juvenile Department of a book store and cut the pictures of all the presidents from this book. Paste each picture on a large card, number them, and label them incorrectly. For instance, label George Washington "Grant" and Grant "McKinley," and so on. In five minutes the guests must write down the numbers of each picture, naming the presidents correctly. No person may look on another's paper. A small framed picture of Lincoln might be the prize for the winner of this contest.

Flag Game: Stand the guests in a circle and give all but one person a penny flag. At a signal everybody begins passing his flag to the player on his left and continues doing so till the signal once more sounds. The winner is the one who has no flag. Repeat as often as desired.

Patriotic Observation Contest: Put on a table a number of articles suggested by the Fourth—for instance, a firecracker, torpedo, flag, photograph of a president, liberty bell, cap pistol, toy cannon, Army coat button, and the like. Let everybody look at these things for two minutes, then cover the table with a cloth and give everybody a pencil and paper to write down from memory what he saw.

Tomorrow—The New Slip-Over Kimonos.

RE-EDUCATION

A man isn't educated merely because he holds a diploma or a degree from some college.

Most people of sense learn early that college didn't do so much educating, after all, but that it only suggested for them a plan or course.

Not until we understand ourselves and translate what we are into terms of life, do we really begin our education.

As a matter of fact, growth can come about in no other way than through re-education every day of our lives. In the light of knowledge and experience we discover how little our former education counts.

The successful man, who is always the growing man, never sees anything very big in what he has already done. Every day we must make new appraisals, take new inventories and map out new paths through which to blaze ideas.

Someone has said that a man isn't really educated until he has every voluntary muscle under his control.

But there is a higher education than this—that of acquiring spiritual values.

For as thought is of greater value than money, so are the forces which make for eternity greater than those that make up the frame and substance of the body.

A believer is far greater than a thinker, for a believer must first be a thinker.

And so you must learn early to think, to hunt out the facts of life, and then to place them right under the rays of truth.

The great man is the one who is daily graduating from the University of Himself!

SKELETON PLATFORM IS DRAWN UP BY THE DEMOCRATS

New York, June 26.—After an all night session, a skeleton of the 1924 Democratic platform was completed early today by a special subcommittee on resolutions from the national convention.

The conferees, however, postponed a final decision on the party's attitude toward the Ku Klux Klan and the League of Nations, the two major planks which aroused bitter animosities.

In both instances the subcommittee recommended twin planks, setting forth the views of opposing factions and went into secret session again to settle the contested issues. The platform otherwise sounded a clear cut appeal for progressive support. It blazed a trail for the Democratic presidential campaign on domestic and economic issues and the Washington scandals.

In stressing the economic situation the platform, pledged the Democrats to a program of re-opening foreign markets for American exports, definite agriculture relief measures, a liberal labor policy, a revision of the tariff, further tax reductions, the extension of government economies and the reduction of freight rates on raw materials.

The Teapot Dome naval reserve, department of justice and Veterans' Bureau scandals, were bitterly flayed and a pledge given for honest administration of the government's business.

MONEY AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

What grounds are there for the statement that "It takes a financial genius to make a real success in the investment business?"

Answered by
A. W. WARNER
Veteran Financial Writer and Newspaper Man.

Any one can find when a certain train will pull into a particular station by looking at the time table. If an accident occurs an expert must be consulted to find out whether or not the train will be on time.

Almost any man with average intelligence can find out whether or not a bond is entitled to a good rating. As in the case of the train, however, accidents are likely to change the rating, so he needs the service of a good banking or bond house to protect himself.

The successful investment manager burrows much deeper into conditions than the average man does. He must not only be able to gauge the effect of accidents or changing business conditions on his securities, but he must anticipate them so as to avoid future losses. That faculty requires excellent foresight and is well termed "financial genius."

THE Big-Six Touring is a seven-passenger car—not merely a seven-passenger body mounted on a five-passenger chassis.

It was designed and built for seven-passenger service—with a motor of ample power and stamina for seven-passenger satisfaction.

Then, too, with the auxiliary seats folded away, the Big-Six becomes the most desirable five-passenger car in which you have ridden, with room enough for all the luggage you will ever need.

TOURING CAR
f. o. b. factory

Big-Six appearance is attractive, distinctive, and in good taste. Its performance, acceleration, flexibility and dependability are known and respected the world over.

No car, regardless of price, surpasses it in quality or completeness of equipment.

If a smaller manufacturer or assembler were to build the Big-Six—of equal quality and workmanship—his price would be $3,500—perhaps more.

But Big-Six overhead is distributed over six times as many units as are built by any Big-Six competitor, hence Big-Six cost and selling price are surprisingly low.

Don't buy blindfolded. Examine, ride in and drive the Big-Six before you buy any other car.

BIG OUTBURSTS MARK SESSION OF CONVENTION

New York, June 26.—Two great demonstrations featured the second session of the Democratic national convention.

The first was precipitated by the Klan issue and the second occurred when the name of William G. McAdoo was placed in nomination for president. When the call of states began for presidential nominations Alabama answered with a candidate of its own. Fordney Johnston presented the name of Senator Underwood. But, while Underwood himself did not appeal much to the imagination of the delegates, Johnston, during his address, denounced for the first time in the convention "that secret, hooded order, the Ku Klux Klan"—and it proved the battle cry of action. Hundreds of delegates leaped to their feet, while hundreds in their seats were howling, whistling, cheering, fighting, throwing their hats in the air.

The demonstration lasted for many minutes. Mention of the Klan had aroused an uproar where previous mention of good and honest government, the league of nations and numerous other issues, thoughtfully considered and ably set forth, had commanded only desultory cheering and relatively little applause. The demonstration showed that the delegates, thus far at least, have as the first great issue in mind a clear-cut cleavage with the Klan.

The McAdoo outburst endured for an hour. It was a combination of joyous enthusiasm which had waited long for a vent, and a "seventh inning stretch" which was welcome after Senator Phelan's presentation speech. First out into the aisles was the California delegation gayly begarbed. Perched upon the shoulders of two stalwarts was pretty Miss Josephine Norman of Los Angeles, in the dress and crown of the Goddess of Liberty, carrying the colors of California and McAdoo. Behind her ranged four beautiful girls in the dress of Gloria trumpeters and each playing a silver cornet. One after another the McAdoo delegations swept out into the line. "Bill, Bill, We Want Bill," was the chant set up, and soon it was going on rhythmically all over the garden. The cheer leader started in to chant "Mac, Mac'll Do."

"Over There" began from the band loft, when suddenly, led from the Wisconsin, Illinois and New York delegations, the chant "Smith, Smith, We Want Smith," started up.

The opposing sides, standing on chairs, shouted back and forth, each trying to drown out the other and soon the galleries joined the contest. Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, who was placed in nomination.

BOYS ARE CHARGED WITH SENDING NOTES

Chicago, June 26.—Walter Borcia, L. Thomas and Walter Erns, each about 18, are under arrest charged with attempting to extort $8,000 from Jacob Franks, father of Robert Franks, schoolboy, recently kidnapped and slain by Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb. They were arrested when they called for the money. Police say the boys admitted having sent a death threat to Mr. Franks in a letter received last Tuesday. Kidnaping and death to Franks' daughter were threatened. When Mr. Franks, at the direction of detectives, left a dummy package at the place designated, the three boys picked it up and were surrounded by the officers, who had concealed themselves in the vicinity.

Threatening letters have also been received by other wealthy Chicagoans, one by Edward Hines, rich lumberman, from a man who signed the missive "Farwell" and called upon the recipient to bury $20,000 under an ash pile at a designated point before July 6 or forfeit his life.

New Treatment For Varicose Veins and Ulcers

Swollen veins are dangerous and often burst. Sufferers are advised to get a two ounce, original bottle of Emerald Oil (full strength), at any pharmacist and start to reduce the bunches at once.

Physicians recommend Emerald Oil; it is used in hospital practice and a small bottle will last a long time, because it is very concentrated and a little goes a long way. Apply night and morning with a soft brush as directed until the swelling is reduced to normal.

So marvelously powerful is Emerald Oil that swollen glands and even goitre disappear when used steadily Sayre & Hemphill.

RENTS ARE STILL SOARING IN U. S.

Chicago, June 26.—W. R. Shirley, president of the National Fraternal congress, told a welfare conference of fraternal orders held here that rents for American homes have gone up 85 per cent on an average for the country in the last 10 years. He said: "Wage earners in 46 cities are required to pay from 100 to 150 per cent more rent than in 1914. There are 67 cities in which the rent increases have soared above the 85 per cent average. The increase in the last year has been nearly 10 per cent. In the group of cities with rent increases more than 100 per cent in 10 years are Chicago, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Kansas City and Los Angeles. High rentals are the heaviest burden of the increased cost of living. Greatest raises in rents are those of the moderate grade flats and small houses."

KLAN HOLDS MEET AT WAYNESVILLE

Members of the Greene County Ku Klux Klan took part in what is said to have been the first open convocation of the Klan at Waynesville, held Wednesday evening in a field just north of that village.

The convocation was featured by a parade through the village at 8 o'clock in which the Greene County and Warren County Bands took part. Greene, Warren and Montgomery delegations were represented with the Greene County Band heading the local Klan in the parade.

A number of sightseers, watching the meeting from the road, witnessed the ceremonies taking part in a field off the Cincinnati Pike. Traffic on the pike was congested by the gathering.

Familiar Scenes Change But Train Goes On Forever

This picture shows the old Steele building during "Ye goode olde dayes," before the present building had been built. On the second floor

This is not a picture of "Germany after the war," of "Checho Slovaki" or the "Klondike," but is an old photograph of Xenia itself in times of peace and plenty, with mud streets, brick sidewalks, livery stables, horses and wagons, plane box buggies, carriages and match teams, and women with "demi train" dresses and dust ruffles.

Considering Xenia's advancement in the last half century, the changes that have taken place are amazing, especially to anyone who has been away from the city for that length of time and has returned for a visit to the "old town."

All of the little side streets, formerly tenanted by horse-drawn establishments, paintshops, barns and the like, are now really sure-enough streets with the remodeling of these old buildings into handsome apartments and the paving of the little streets themselves.

There is hardly a business building or residence that has not been made over, if not removed or torn down in order to be replaced by a new one.

Old residents well remember the old Court House with the buggies and wagons hitched around the curbstone on Saturday nights; the old German Reformed where the Standard Oil filling station now stands; the "flats," where Charlie Christy of newspaper fame, spent his boyhood days; the West Market Street school house of four rooms, now the McKinley school building, where reading, writing and arithmetic were taught and where school took up, recess was announced and school dismissed, by the ringing of a bell; the old Allen Building with several steps leading up to the corner room, where W. S. Fawcett had his jewelry store, and the Allen home, which is now occupied by Wagner's Jewelry store and Hyman's Fruit Store.

On the other corner is the Steele building with its flight of steps running up on the Main Street side, by which means was reached the offices of Dr. Clark Galloway, Judge C. C. Shearer, Charles Darlington, Sr., Tom Scroggy and others. The old St. George Hotel, the "office" of which was a rendezvous for drummers and also for a certain coterie of prominent men about town, who enjoyed discussing their latest topics of the day.

Another old landmark still standing on its original foundations and which is of historical interest is the Xenia Female Seminary which was at the zenith of its glory at least sixty years ago.

A number of the graduates of the college who received their instruction then, while it was strictly a young lady's seminary conducted by Professor William Smith, will recall with pleasure the hours spent in those buildings.

The east building, which was at that time the dormitory and also the residence of Professor Smith and his wife, has since been remodeled and converted into an apartment house. The west building formerly the college proper has lately been used as a private school.

There was no form of amusement in those days except occasional shows at the Opera House. No picture shows, no trips to Dayton on the traction cars—for there was no traction line in existence then—and no automobiles.

The only form of diversion in the summer time was a walk up town in the evenings to the Davidson, formerly the Milburn, ice cream parlor.

Many may recall with delight the band concerts given regularly in the old Court House yard on Saturday nights. Upon these occasions, ice cream, pop corn and peanuts, could be purchased.

If an attempt were to be made to enumerate all the changes that have taken place within the last fifty years, there would scarcely be one business house or residence left to be described as "untouched."

The one familiar institution that has kept on the "right track" all these years without any change whatever is the Pennsylvania train running through the center of the city. Every day the bells of the engines ring out the warning:

"Men may come and men may go, But I go on forever."

Child-birth

WHEN the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa.

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., B.A. 75, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

Who'll Bell The Cat?

One of the old fables tells how all the mice held a meeting one day and decided their common enemy, the cat, would have to be belled for their safety, so that they would always be warned of its stealthy approach.

But when the question was raised as to who would bell the cat—every little mouse was silent.

Of course this fable was originated before a perfect classified advertising medium had been developed. If the Gazette-Republican A-B-C Classified Section had been known, the fable would have gone on to tell how easily the mice found a dog who specialized as a cat "beller."

Nowadays to ask in doubting tones who will do a certain thing—savors of the ridiculous.

People turn—for the common safety of their pocketbooks—to the A-B-C Classified Section where specialists of all kinds offer their services.

You, too, will find safety in these economical and profitable offers.

COUNTRY CLUB GOLFERS WIN FROM LONDON

The Xenia Country Club won its second consecutive victory of the season by defeating the London golf team in match play Wednesday afternoon on the local course by a score of 27 to 9 Nassau count. The game was much closer than the score would indicate as the London players contested every hole.

Fine weather prevailed for the match and as a result some good scores were turned in, especially by Charles Fisher, of the Xenia team who had a remarkable 39 for nine holes.

London, with rather a small membership this year, was able to bring only fifteen players, but these acquitted themselves in a fine manner.

Following the match a dinner was served the Xenia players and their guests.

The match was in charge of C. E. Arbogust, chairman of the tournament and handicaps committee.

TROY MAN TO JOIN ANTIOCH COLLEGE FACULTY IN FALL

Lord Snook of Troy will join the Antioch College faculty in the fall as an instructor in personnel and organization work in industry and will at the same time take over the course in advertising. He has resigned his position as secretary-treasurer of the Troy Metal Products Company to enter the new field.

Mr. Snook is a native of Troy, a graduate of Troy High School and Kenyon '19, with the degree of Ph. B. During his college career he was strongly interested in both academic and extra-curricular activities. He is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon; was recognized as an All-Ohio half-back in 1918; served as managing editor of the 1918 Reveille and was vice-president and president-elect of the Kenyon Assembly. During the war he was a commissioned officer stationed at Key West, acting as instructor in the Naval Flying Corps.

Mr. Snook has been connected with the Troy Metal Products company and was in charge of the Springfield plant some time before its removal to Troy.

In 1923, during the absence of Mr. Mathewson while he was serving on the Federal Coal Commission, Mr. Snook gave the course in industrial relations at Antioch. He is a firm believer in the Antioch system of education.

Mr. and Mrs. Snook will remain in Troy during the summer, expecting to move to Yellow Springs early in the fall.

Does Your Back Ache?

Bad Backs Bring Suffering to Many Xenia Folks.

Is that dull, constant backache making you old and miserable? Does your back throb and ache until it seems you just can't keep going? Do you suffer headaches, dizzy spells and urinary disorders? Feel weak, tired and worn-out? Then look to your kidneys. Delay may mean serious kidney sickness! Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Doan's are recommended by Xenia folks.

J. F. Mellage, shoemaker, 426 W. Second St., Xenia, says: "My back ached constantly and every time I stooped, I got a stab of pain through it and it was hard to straighten. Mornings I dreaded to get up. I was so stiff and lame. I had to get up several times at night to pass the kidney secretions. Doan's Pills cured the backache and my kidneys again became normal."

LOVE-OR FAME?

DOROTHY LANE goes to New York to visit

PERSIS GRANT, and gets a chance to act in a motion picture as double for a famous star. She meets

LAWRENCE FRENCH, a young publicity man. A producer whom Persis knows, named

HOPSON, invites the girls to go to a theater and dance club with him and some friends. French wants Dorothy not to have anything to do with the Hopson crowd, and as a result she and Persis quarrel and she decides to live alone. Dorothy goes to a theatrical agent whom French has recommended. She meets

SYLVIA STEARNS, who takes her to a girls' club to live.

XV—MY CORNER OF NEW YORK

I'D LIKE to tell you all the details of my getting established at the club, but I haven't got time or space. It proved to be just as homy as it had looked and when I found myself all settled in a little room up on the third floor, and saw the gay cretonne cover on the cot bed, that matched the window curtains and the slip on the little rocking chair, I wished that every girl who comes to New York to earn her living could stay there.

Sylvia introduced me to the nice woman who had charge of the club, and she made me feel so welcome, and as if I belonged to the club and she was glad to have me there. She made all the preliminary arrangements not a bit as if they were red tape, and when I was all established as a member of the club, I told her who my people were back home and enough about myself so that she'd know I was the sort of girl the club was meant for—she patted me on the shoulder and said she hoped I'd be happy there, and to come to her if she could advise or help me in any way. She seemed like a real friend from that very moment.

I had dinner in the cafeteria that night—only it wasn't like a regular cafeteria, because it seemed so homy. The food was all home cooked, and you just went and got what you wanted, on a little tray, and then sat down at one of the small tables, with any one you wanted to.

Sylvia introduced me to all the girls, and before I knew it I was part of a celebration; one of them had been given a part in a play that was going to open on Broadway very soon, and everybody was congratulating her and making a big fuss about it. I couldn't help noticing right away that their work was the most important thing to all of them. A crowd of girls that are back home would have been talking about parties and clothes and things like that, but these girls were all discussing parts they were trying for in plays or motion pictures.

or arguing about make-up or something like that. And they were all so nice to me.

"I've got passes for a show to-night," one of them said to me. "I can't go, because I'm going to a preview of a picture at one of the hotels, so why don't you and Sylvia take my tickets?"

So we did. It seemed funny to me to be going out in the evening without having a man along, but Sylvia didn't seem to think anything about our walking down Broadway just by ourselves, and, as we didn't pay any attention to anybody else, nobody did to us. And at the theater I noticed quite a lot of girls and women alone. There were two behind us—beautifully dressed, too, and awfully pretty. And I heard one of them say:

It was as comfortable as it looked from outside.

"Yes, Ernest wanted to take me to see that new musical comedy to-night, but I knew you and I would have a better time alone, so if you don't mind he'll just take us to supper afterward."

That wasn't a bit the way the girls feel back home; there it's almost a disgrace not to have a man with you when you go out anywhere in the evening; people think it's because you can't, you see. I decided that girls in the city were much freer than they are in a small town.

It was awfully hard for me to wait till the following Tuesday for some work to do, but, of course, I couldn't hurry things up any. Sylvia told me I was very lucky, indeed, to get the chance to work then. She took me around with her to some of the studios, and I left my photographs, and even saw one casting director, but he said that he had nothing then, not even a mob scene. I left my name and address everywhere, though—they gave me cards to fill out, which would be filed—so I felt that I was accomplishing something.

I learned a good deal about make-up from the girls; they gathered in my room late one afternoon, and experimented with different shades of grease paint and powder till they got what they thought was the best combination. And one of them showed me the best way to do my eyes. So when I went back to the agency I really felt quite experienced and pretty sure of my success.
